Marginalization of Older Persons in Society – A Significant Health Risk

"Leave no one behind!" is a key principle of the United Nations' "Agenda 2030 for Sustainable Development", as proclaimed under Goal No. 3: "to ensure healthy lives and promoting well-being for all ages". A particular group threatened by the risk of not having full chances to live a healthy life and enjoy well-being are older persons who are marginalized or excluded by society. The IDOP 2024 conference addresses specific forms of marginalization of older persons and its possible influences on their health.

The NGO Committee on Ageing in the United Nations in Vienna was constituted in 1981 as a Substantive Committee at the Conference of NGOs in Consultative Relationship with the United Nations (CoNGO). The members of the Committee are international Non-Governmental Organizations (iNGOs) interested in multifaceted issues related to ageing and older persons. The Committee collaborates with similar NGO Committees on Ageing in the United Nations in New York and Geneva. Topics discussed by the Committee in monthly meetings at the UN in the "Decade of Healthy Ageing (2020-2030)" include Human Rights issues, intergenerational perspectives, the impact of digitalization, lifelong learning, as well as cultural aspects of ageing.
